

Under Surveillance

Oh no... I'm being watched! Soft looping melodies are constantly interrupted by hushed pulses that sound like secret footsteps in the dark. No matter where I go, it feels like mysterious eyes are following me! The music stays tense, sneaky, and full of suspense. I have to stay alert, search for clues, and figure out what's really going on. Which musical fragment gives the feeling of being watched? Will I discover who is watching and why?
